Notes for CHARLES HENRY RALSTON:

History of Oregon page 2_562 - CHARLES H. RALSTON

Charles H. Ralston, Now living retired at Lebanon, is one of the honored pioneers of Oregon, having spent his life within its borders, and is familiar with the entire history of its development and the progressive present. Mr. Ralston was born on the plains of Wyoming, while his parents were en route from Iowa to Oregon, on the 1st of June, 1847, and is a son of Jeremiah and Jemima (Ashpaugh) Ralston, the former born near Nashville, Tennessee, and the latter a native of Hamilton county, Ohio. The father had learned the trade of a carpenter in Cincinnati, to which city his parents had removed when he was eleven years of age. He later became a resident of Indiana and 1837 went to Iowa, engaging in general merchandising in Burlington, that state, until 1847, when he started across the plains to Oregon with three wagons and twenty yoke of oxen, reaching his destination in September of that year after a long and hazardous trip. He was one of the earliest pioneers of Oregon and to the work of development and improvement he contributed in substantial measure. He took up a donation claim in Linn county and by tireless energy and undaunted perseverance gradually brought his land under a high state of cultivation. About 1856 or 1857 he laid out the town of Lebanon and there opened a store, which was the first in the town and the county. This he conducted for about eight years and then turned his attention to the supervision of his land and stock interests, continuing a resident of Lebanon throughout the remainder of his life. Mr. and Mrs. Ralston were members of the Methodist church and were actively interested in its work, contributing liberally to its support. He met an accidental death in August, 1877, at the age of eighty years, while the mother passed away December 25, 1894, when seventy-seven years of age. They were numbered among the honored pioneers of the state and were widely known and held in the highest esteem by all who knew them. They had become the parents of nine children and two of their sons saw service in the Indian wars.

Charles H. Ralston was the youngest in the family that crossed the plains. He was reared and educated in Lebanon. After completing his studies he assisted his brothers in the conduct of a store at Oregon City for about three years and then operated his father's farm until 1876, when he once more entered mercantile circles, becoming identified with the conduct of a grocery store at Lebanon, thus continuing for several years. He next became interested in financial affairs, acting as cashier and manager of the Lebanon Bank until the financial panic of 1893 compelled it to close its doors. He then accepted the position of weigher and gauger in the customs house at Portland and served in that capacity for a period of thirteen years, since which time he has lived practically retired.

In 1870 Mr. Ralston was united in marriage to Miss Sarah Katherine Griggs, a daughter of A.B. and Sarah Jane (Morris) Griggs, who were born in the vicinity of Quincy, Illinois. In 1848 her parents came west to Oregon and settled in Linn county, six miles east of Lebanon, where the father took up a donation land claim, which he developed and improved, continuing its operation for a number of years. Subsequently he engaged in the feed business in Albany where he resided the remainder of his life, he death occurring in April, 1904. The mother had long preceded him to the Home beyond, her demise occurring in September, 1862. Mr. and Mrs. Ralston became the parents of four children: Maude, now the wife of Hugh Kirkpatrick, who is serving as postmaster of Lebanon and has also been identified with newspaper interests here; Charles H., Jr. at Home; Jessie, who married Sigurd Landstrom, a prominent jeweler of Lebanon; and Frankie, who was the third in order of birth and is now deceased, her death occurring in September, 1885, when she was nine years of age.

Mr. Ralston gives his political allegiance to the Democratic party and has taken a prominent part in Public affairs of his locality. He was one of the first councilmen of Lebanon, being appointed by the state legislature, and at various times has served in that capacity, while for two terms he was mayor of Lebanon, giving to the city a most business-like and progressive administration. Mrs. Ralston is a member of the Presbyterian church and to its teachings she steadfastly adheres. Mr. Ralston is a man of high person standing, whose sterling worth of character is recognized by all with whom he has been associated. For seventy-four years he has been a resident of this state and great changes have occurred during this period. He remembers when the country was wild and undeveloped with only a few scattered dwellings to show that the seeds of civilization had been planted. The passing years have brought their influx of settlers and with interest Mr. Ralston has watched changing events and in considerable leisure has contributed to the development of his community, his aid and influence being ever on the side of progress and improvement.

Three members of a Lebanon family who celebrated their birthday anniversaries the same day and that on the birthday of one of our martyred presidents Abraham Lincoln, February 12, 1918, are Mrs. C. H. Ralston, Miss Frances Griggs, her sister, and Carl Landstrom, a grandson of Mrs. Ralston. Miss Griggs and Mrs. Ralston are native daughters of Linn county, having been born near Griggs station four miles east of Lebanon, to Mr. and Mrs. Aley B. Griggs, a pioneer couple of 1851. Mr. Griggs bought the donation land claim that had been taken up a few years before by Jason Wheeler and on which were the hued log timbers ready for the construction of the house that served the Griggs family at the time their daughters, Mrs. Ralston and Miss Griggs were born.

SOME MEN WHO HELP MAKE LEBANON GROW

C. H. RALSTON, JR.

"Jack" Ralston as every person in Linn county knows him, is a three ply Oregonian. His grandfather, Jeremiah Ralston, came to Oregon in 47 and took up the donation land claim which is the present site of the beautiful little city of Lebanon. Jeremiah Ralston was the founder of Lebanon and his son, C. H. Ralston, Sr., the father of the subject of this sketch was born while his parents were coming across the plains. Of sturdy pioneer stock, inheriting the energy and aggressiveness of his forefathers, C. H. Ralston, Jr., was destined to strike out for himself and is a fine example of the western self-made man. His early education was secured at the Lebanon schools, Albany College and the Portland Business College. For several years he was connected with the Breyman Leather Co. of Portland. He came to the Lebanon Paper Mills in 1911 and in 1915 became manager, a position in which all of Linn county takes pride in having one of her native sons occupy.

22. LUTETIA³ EDWARDS (REBECCA PAGE² ASHPAUGH, JOHN¹) was born 06 Mar 1848 in Iowa. She married SAMUEL B. PARKER Nov 1865.

Notes for SAMUEL B. PARKER:

<http://www.rootsweb.com/~neresour/OLLibrary/pbjp/pages/bajp0027.htm>

Johnson County Nebraska

Lutetia Edwards, daughter of Rebecca Ashpaugh and Thomas Edwards

SAMUEL B. PARKER. The snug farm of eighty acres which is pleasantly located on section 11 in Center Precinct was built up from the primitive soil by the subject of this sketch, who moved upon it in the spring of 1883, and began at once the struggle with the soil which has brought him such admirable results. He has been prospered remarkably in his labors, and besides having brought the greater portion of his land to a productive condition, has erected a neat and substantial dwelling, with barns, corn cribs, and the other structures required for the storing of grain and the shelter of stock. He has also planted shade and fruit trees, placed scores of rods of fencing, and has in all respects a home of which he may well be proud.

Mr. Parker has been a resident of this county since the spring of 1879, and has made for himself hosts of friends. A Southern man, he was born in Macon County, Tenn., Dec. 29, 1843, and was reared and educated in his native State. When a youth of sixteen years he migrated across the Mississippi into Cape Girardeau County, Mo., and two years later, after the outbreak of the Rebellion, signaled his patriotism by enlisting in Company G, 29th Missouri Infantry, in which he did faithful service until the 20th of March, 1863.

Our subject first saw the smoke of battle at Chalk Bluff, Ark., and being assigned to the Army of the Cumberland was present under the command of Gen. Sherman in the first engagement with the enemy at Vicksburg; subsequently he was in the fight at Arkansas Post and at Jackson, Miss., besides other minor engagements. For awhile he was on detached service, and then, as the result of hardship and exposure, was taken in and sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo. There he remained until being mustered out. He escaped wounds and capture, although at one time he received a serious scratch from the slivers of a fence near him which was torn by a cannon ball.

As a native of one of the Southern States Mr. Parker manifested his loyalty to an unusual degree. His forefathers were slave-holders, and the later members of the family were in sympathy with the Confederacy. Three of the cousins of Mr. Parker served during the war in the rebel army. His father, however, was a Union man, and a member of the Missouri Militia before the war. Samuel B., not long after receiving his honorable discharge, came to what was then the Territory of Nebraska, and located in Nemaha County, in the month of April, 1863. Thence, in 1879, he came to Johnson County, where he has since lived.

While a resident of Nemaha County our subject made the acquaintance of one of its most estimable young ladies, Miss Lutetia, daughter of Rev. Thomas D. Edwards, and they were wedded on the 14th of November, 1865. Mrs. Parker was born March 6, 1848, in Iowa. The maiden name of her mother was Rebecca Ashpaugh. The parental household included seven children, who are now scattered in the West. The fattier is now deceased, and the mother lives with our subject. To Mr. Parker and his estimable wife there have been born six children, namely: William, Nettie, Maude, Hattie, Grace and Clinton B. Fisk. They all continue at home with their parents. Mrs. Parker is a member in good standing of the Christian Church, and our subject, politically, is a Prohibitionist. He is a man liberal and progressive in his ideas, strict in his moral principles, a warm advocate of temperance, and the fact that as a Southern-born man he was loyal to the Government of the United States, is one to which his children may revert in after years, and in which they may justly take pride. It indicates perhaps more forcibly than anything we could name the chief characteristics of the man. Such a one can be trusted, and he is looked upon by his neighbors as a member of the community whose word is as good as his bond.

FLIER IS KILLED WHEN SHIP DIVES TO GROUND

A home-made airplane that stalled and fell carried Wallie William Ashpaugh, young Portland aviator, to his death on the new airport near Sparks yesterday afternoon.

Ashpaugh, who was taking part in the airport dedication ceremonies, was maneuvering above the field at an elevation estimated at two hundred feet. The tiny airplane suddenly went into a spin and crashed to the field, narrowly missing several spectators.

As the plane struck the ground, it caught fire, but the blaze was quickly put out by Mark Peters, local flier. Ashpaugh was pulled from the wreckage and taken to the hospital, where he died less than an hour later. His skull was fractured, both legs were broken, and he also was injured internally. The plane was owned by James Duke of Gardenville, who built the machine.

An inquest will be held tomorrow afternoon before Coroner R.J. Cunningham of Sparks, and it is expected that the federal department of commerce also will make an investigation into the wreck. Ashpaugh's pilot license recently had been renewed by the department.

Ashpaugh was thirty-one years old and a native of Portland. His friends said he had been engaged in the fruit business in Oregon for several years. His mother lives in Portland.

General arrangements are awaiting word from the relatives. Announcement will be made by the O'Brien & Nugent Company.

An air show was in progress at the time and the highway for blocks around was lined with cars. A dude ranch station wagon was pressed into service to take the injured flier to the hospital and it had great difficulty in reaching the main highway because of the traffic congestion.

Ashpaugh was not connected with the field nor with the fliers who were conducting the air show, it was explained.

Eldon John Keen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Keen, born April 17, 1916, and died October 22nd, 1918, aged 2 years, 6 months and 5 days. The little one's mother is the sister of Siguard Landstrom. His grandmother, well known among us, is in Portland caring for the grief stricken mother. The father, John Keen, is a sail rigger, employed at St. John ship yard. Friday, October 25, a simple service was conducted in the Everett, Kyle and Epperly Undertaking parlors and the little body was laid tenderly away in the Masonic cemetery. [November 1, 1918 paper]
