Death of Garret Gwinn son of Garrett O Gwinn

Walla Walla Union Bulletin (Walla Walla, Washington) > 1968 > August > 8 page 1

Suspicious circumstances surrounding an early morning fire death in Walla Walla were being investigated by police Thursday.

After being rescued by firemen from his blazing apartment shortly before 3 am Thursday, Garrett "Fred" Gwinn, 24, 410 Chase, died 3 hours later at St. Mary Hospital.

His body was covered with 3rd degree burns and doctors had little hope of the victims survival when he was admitted.

"Careless use of smoking materials" was listed by firemen as the cause of the 3:28 am alarm, but several police reports indicated a second person may have been at the scene.

A woman, living just across from the victim's apartment building, told police she saw a man come down the outside stairway as far as the landing just before the fire trucks dove up.

The witness told officers the man came down to the stairway landing, jumped over the rail to the ground and began running east. The stairway leads directly to Gwinn's apartment, the only one on the 2nd floor.

Four minutes before the fire alarm, police received a call from Connie Reyburn, living directly below Gwinn. Awakened by shouting, groans, scuffling sounds and breaking glass, she reported a fight in Gwinn's apartment.

Later she said it sounded "a lot more noise than just one man trying to get out."

Firemen said Gwinn, found just inside the hallway in front of his door, was apparently on the couch in the living room when the fire began. Fire damage was extensive in the newly remodeled apartment.

Due to the facts, we're still investigating," said County Prosecutor Art Eggers Thursday morning. An autopsy will be performed.

Gwinn, who worked for a Jones-Scott asphalt crew, was born in Walla Walla, Nov. 19, 1943.

Attendance at Paine Grade School was followed by classes at Wa-Hi, where he played varsity football for three years.

After his graduation in 1962 Gwinn entered the army and served mainly in France and Germany. He was discharged in 1965.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Garrett F. (Janice) Gwinn, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett O. Gwinn, all of Walla Walla; his sister, Mrs. Dennis (Karen) Castoldi, Lewiston, IK; and several nieces, nephews, aunts and uncles.
