Typhoid fever was the cause of the death of Thomas F. Berry. He was forty-seven years old at the time of his passing. No other circumstances are known. He was originally buried in a small cemetery located somewhere near the Whitman Mission; however, twenty years after his interment, his coffin was exhumed by his son Ira and other men, and moved to the cemetery at Milton, Oregon.

Martha J. TIMBERLAKE Berry -- Lawrence Berry quotes from a letter dated July 24, 1941, from then Congressman Walter M. Pierce (former Governor of Oregon and senior Congressman):

"When I went to Milton, it was a little village with three saloons, two blacksmith shops, and two stores. It had two regular preachers and two teachers. In September of '83, I commenced teaching school at Milton. I lived with your grandmother (Martha J. Berry). She was a widow lady, not keeping boarders, but she took me in as an accommodation. In the home were Charles and Lee Berry. . . . Your grandmother was a deeply religious woman, one of those fine pioneer women, and your uncles were the best of men."

Thomas and Martha Berry, during the spring and summer of 1853, traveled with six small children by wagon from Shelby Co., IN, across the western plains to a homestead in Washington. They left Shelbyville, Indiana, in April, 1853, and reached Tarwater, Washington on September 20, 1853.

Miss Herndon Smith, in Volume One of the Luark Journal dated Thursday, May 19th, "There had already passed on the southern side of the Plat this season (besides what had passed on the north side) and before us, 1360 wagons, 450 head of cattle, 1754 horses, 742 families, 3,344 men, 905 women, and 1207 children" This was at Ft. Kearney. At north Platte on June 13, 1853, was written, "Here I learned that 905 wagons had already crossed this season."

During their stay at this farm (in Walla Walla), tragedy struck suddenly. Heman S. Berry, a boy of fourteen, was starting to hitch up a team of horses when his arm became entangled in a halter and the team started to run. The mother looked out the window in time to see her son being thrown in the air and forcibly slapped to the ground as the team ran away. Heman died on March 19, 1865.

Disappeared by 1918--whereabouts unknown. According to David Strahan, his grandmother Ella said that during WWII a man appeared at the door asking for directions, but was acting uncomfortable. After he left, she realized it was probably her brother, Frederick Morie, but by then it was too late. The man was gone and there was no way to find him.

He married JENNIE LAURA WRIGHT 16 Oct 1883 in Milton, Umatilla, OR, daughter of WILLIAM WRIGHT and LAURA LATTIN. She was born 06 Nov 1866 in Warren County, OH, and died 08 May 1957 in Seattle, King, WA.

Notes for IRA WARD BERRY:

Ira Ward Berry -- Lawrence Berry, Ira's son, tells us that Ira never had worn a "suit of boughten underwear" until he was 17 years old. His sisters knitted his socks.

Trust fund established in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ward Berry by his son Lawrence: The Berry Lectures of the University of Hawaii" Minutes of Board of Trustees of University of Hawaii Foundation January 17, 1957 show, "It was moved, seconded, and voted to accept a contribution of $1,044.00 from the family of the Rev. Lawrence W. Berry, of Seattle, Washington, in order to set up a trust fund in memory of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I.W. Berry, the income of this fund to be used to offer lectures on the principles and meaning of Christianity, to be known as "The Berry Lectures of the University of Hawaii," comparable to purpose and scope to the Terry (sic-Lawrence Berry's memoirs) Lectures at Yale University. It was pointed out that the wishes of the donors are that the wishes of the donors are that sectarianism, bigotry and extreme fanaticism are never associated with this undertaking, and further, that the amount of $1,044.00 represents the first of other contributions which they intend to make over a period of years.

I hereby certify that this is a true and correct copy of that portion of the minutes relating to the Berry Lectures.

Signed Richard Penhallow, Secretary
University of Hawaii Foundation

Berry Family spent considerable time at a place called Hill's Camp in the Blue Mountains. Ira Ward Berry was granted permission by John M. Hill, his brother-in-law (married to Lucinda Harriett Berry) to build a log cabin on this land.

Served 12 years as Judge of the Election Board and was responsible for delivering the sealed ballot box safely to the morning express train.

Carried petition to 75 farmers' homes to get signatures on petition to start first RFD in Adams County. Gave land for School District #88 in Adams County and was first clerk of the school board.

Notes for JENNIE LAURA WRIGHT:

THE WRIGHT FAMILY JOURNEYED BY COVERED WAGON

Jennie Laura Wright, with her family, crossed the country from Carthage Missouri to Weston Oregon, in a covered wagon during 1879. This journey was recorded in a journal kept by Jennie's mother, and which is now in the University of Washington Library, listed under Northwest Americana. (The original map which supplemented the Wright Journal is now in the possession of the author's son, Lawrence, who lives in Phoenix, Arizona)

Lawrence W. Berry, Oct. 20, 1960.

Jenny Berry, per her son, had a 20 acre strawberry patch.

Jenny L. Berry wrote in her family Bible: Ira Ward Berry of Milton, Oregon and Jennie Laura Wright were united in Holy Matrimony at her parents' home, in Milton, on the sixteenth day of October, 1883, in the presence of 50 friends and relatives. Rev. William Pruett, Minister, George Young and Nathan Pierce, witnesses."

In 1956, at the age of 89, Jennie L. Berry was able to name almost 40 of those who were present that night and the fact that roast turkey and large quantities of homemade food were served.

Marriage Notes for IRA BERRY and JENNIE WRIGHT:

Notes from Mr. Lawrence W. Berry-Oct. 20, 1960

The marriage certificate bound in the family Bible has in it a notation in the handwriting of Jennie L. Berry which reads: "Ira Ward Berry of Milton, Oregon and Hennie Laura Wright were united in Holy Matrimony at her parents' home in Milton on the sixteenth day of October 1883, in the presence of 50 friends and relatives.

Rev. William Pruett, Minister

George Young and Nathan Pierce, witnesses"

(In 1956, at the age of 89, Jennie L. Berry was able to name almost forty of those who were present that night. But the one thing which she remembered best was the roast turkey and the dining room table stacked high with large quantities of home-made food.)
