CRUSHED TO DEATH

Darius Moorehouse Falls Under a Wagon and is Killed

On Saturday, Darius Moorehouse, residing in Umatilla county just across the line, came to town with a four horse team for a load of chopped feed. He was accompanied by two young men named Saling and Lynch. While returning home in the evening, and when within 300 yards of Mr. Moorehouse's place, the three men began "skylarking" and sculling on the wagon, and Mr. Moorehouse lost his balance and fell under the wheels. Before the team could be stopped one of the wheels passed over him in the region of the abdomen. The wagon was loaded with a ton and a half of chop. The injured man was carried to his house, where he died in 30 minutes. Deceased was 48 years old, and was well and favorably known in Umatilla and Walla Walla counties, where he has resided for many years. He leaves a wife and several children well provided for. The funeral took place today at the Saling cemetery.

The East Oregonian, Pendleton, Oregon, Monday, May 14, 1888.

AN UNTIMELY END

Mr. D. L. Moorhouse Crushed to Death Under His Wagon.

In to-day's dispatches, published elsewhere in this issue, the sudden death of Mr. D. L. Moorhouse, oldest brother of T. L. Moorhouse, one of Pendleton's most respected and popular citizens. Mr. Moorhouse was returning from Walla Walla, where he had been with a load of barley, and was accompanied by two young men. The seat of the wagon in which they were riding was very high, and in some way Mr. Moorhouse lost his balance and fell under the wheels, one of which passed over his body and crushed him fatally. He lived until he got home, the last words he uttered being "Take me home." He was one of the most prominent and respected citizens of the vicinity where he lived. His farm was on Cottonwood creek, only a few miles from Walla Walla. Mr. Lee Moorhouse left here last night to be in attendance at the funeral, which will be held this afternoon at the Saling graveyard near Walla Walla, where his wife is now resting. He was about forty-five years old, and leaves a small family, well provided for, to mourn his untimely death.

Elsworth White, former resident of Walla Walla who had moved to Olympia, died Friday, at age 63. He had moved to Olympia only a month before.

He was born June 26, 1893 in Walla Walla. He had spent much of his life in Seattle, where he worked as a meat cutter and had his own shop. Later he worked as government meat grader 15 years, retiring because of ill health. He moved to Walla Walla the last time in 1949, staying until the move to Olympia. he was active in the Veterans of Foreign Wars here and in Seattle and also belonged to Elks lodge No 287 of Walla Walla, Meat Cutters Union of Seattle, and World War I Veterans. The latter organization was one which he helped to found in this area, and in Lewiston and Clarkston also. He married Inez Maxwell in Everett, Wash. June 7, 1927.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two cousins, Dewey Dennis of Touchet and Archie Dennis of Lowden. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at a local chapel. Interment will be in the Elks Rest Cemetery (Mountain View). Chaplain L. E. Cousins will officiate, Grant Farmer Post No 992, VFW, will have charge of ritualistic services at the graveside.

Kennewick Now Home of Pair with Long Pioneer Heritage

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Witherrite, who live at 403 North Everett St., Kennewick, have it over most old timers in the matter of long association with Northeastern Oregon or Southeastern Washington.

She is a native of La Grande, where she was born 77 years ago; he came to Eastern Umatilla from the Willamette valley as a boy of three years, 79 years ago. In that long period both have never lived elsewhere than in the area mentioned.

It must be noted, however, that within the territory referred to, they have resided in numerous places.

Hudson Bay Resident

Witherrite's people located on upper Birch creek, northwest of Milton-Freewater. From there they moved to the area below Umapine which has long been spoken of as Hudson Bay, that designation being a corruption of Hudson's bay company farm of long ago.

The family acquired land via timber culture means, and it was long known as the Weatherman farm. In an interview with the pair at Kennewick the other day, Witherrite defined what area was considered Hudson Bay district – he said it included the Rice, Young, Goodman and Sturgis places.

Visit ends in Romance

Meanwhile, the Israel Young family moved from La Grande to Eagle valley, being one of the first three settlers around Newbridge. Part of their family was Edith, born before the Eagle valley move. She attended school at Island City when she was 16.

Immediately prior to 1890, Edith Young paid a visit to the Youngs in Hudson Bay, being of the same clan. There she met her future husband. The romance led the couple to wedlock in Walla Walla nearly 58 years ago. The Rev. T. Ryder officiated.

The couple had a home nearer Umapine, known earlier as Vincent, lived in Walla Walla very briefly and then Crow creek in Wallowa county called them. That district is remote even now, and much more so in those early years.

They also resided near Enterprise for a time and then located in Richland in 1927 where they resided until 1934. That year they sold out and moved to Kennewick.

Witherrite's mother is buried in Valley Chapel, and his father, who was Mitchell Witherrite, two brothers and a sister were buried in Bowlus Cemetery.

Have Four Children

The Witherrites have four children: Vern of Oroville; Ray of Seattle; Lyal, who lives four miles below the Innaha store; Daphene (Mrs. George) Nelson of Weston. The Kennewick couple follow articles on this page which are written by their granddaughter La Rayne Nelson, the Roving Reporter's Tokyo representative.

The year 1877 saw a big flood in the Snake and the Columbia, Witherrite revealed. He also remembers that the railroad was built down VanSycle canyon that year. It was also the year in which he helped run a herd of Weston country cattle to the range on the south bank of the Snake.

Skulls Intrigue Him

"We were moving along the Columbia (where Attalia now stands) letting the stock feed as we went", he told the interviewer. 'Before we reached what is now Burbank we headed up toward Five-mile on Snake river. In the swale just south of Burbank we found a big collection of human skulls, though we saw no other bones.

"The incident impressed me. Shortly after that, while camped on the Snake, we saw an Indian procession moving down river carrying a man's body on the usual pole conveyor – two poles snubbed to a pony, the free ends dragging, and on that contraption was the body.

"Later I went down to where the skulls were and I saw a platform as high as a man, with a lot of fresh brush piled on it. While I didn't investigate too closely. I am convinced that the dead man was buried by placing his body on that platform.

"All this led me to believe that Indians of that time and place practiced that sort of burial. If there are any oldtimers who can either support or disprove that contention, I wish they would write to the Roving Reporter. I am anxious to know if I am right."

In his youth, Witherrite helped haul grain to Wallula where it was stacked on the docks for movement down river by boat. Rail transportation was a later facility.

Witnessed Shooting

Away back in the early 1890's Witherrite was a bystander at part of the rumpus when a trooper from the fort near Walla Walla was killed in a soloon argument. The killer was a man named A.J. Hunt and by the time the soldiers had organized their vengeance program. Witherite wa walking along Main street, close by the courthouse fence. An armed soldier told him to cross the street and keep away.

Unaware then of what was soon to happen, he stopped to "find the scor". Then it happened, Hunt was being brought out from the jail in the hands of irate soldiers. Witherrite tells what he saw:
"I saw him fall, either from stumbling or being knocked down. Then someone shot him at close range. Other soldiers followed suit, each taking a shot at the prostrate form as, he passed it."

Mable M. Harris

Mable M. Harris, 94, of Milton-Freewater, died Tuesday, Oct. 17, 2000, at Evergreen Rehabilitation and Retirement Center in Milton-Freewater.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m., Monday, at the First Christian Church, 518 S. Main, in Milton-Freewater. Concluding services and vault interment will be at the Bowlus Pioneer Cemetery.

Miss Harris was born May 26, 1906, on the family ranch on Walla Walla River Road, to Higbee and Laura Church Harris. She lived at the ranch her whole life. She attended the school at Cache Hollow and then McLoughlin High School. After her graduation, she attended and graduated from Columbia College in Milton-Freewater then began working for the Milton Ice Company. She worked there until she had to care for her mother, at this time, she also, began operating the family ranch and did so until ill-health forced her retirement.

Miss Harris raised cattle, wheat and hay. She was known for financially helping students with college costs and also helping those who may have lost a home due to fire. These donations were often anonymous.

She enjoyed traveling and her cabin at the coast.

Miss Harris had served as secretary for the Milton Ditch Company for many years and was a member of the First Christian Church in Milton-Freewater.

Survivors include a nephew, Richard Langley, of Milton-Freewater; nieces Bethene Hanson of Las Vegas, Nev., Betty Woitte, and Bonnie Langley, both in San Diego, Calif.; great niece, Christine Hemple, and her adopted family Carleen Cooper of Cheney, Wash., Beverly Morgan of Long Beach, Calif., Kathy Kelly and Patrick "Pat" Kelly, both of Milton-Freewater. She was preceded in death by adopted son Norman Kelly.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Frazier Farmstead Museum through Munselle-Rhodes Funeral Home, 902 S. Main, Milton-Freewater, OR 9786

14. ROSSWELL³ BRANSON (AMANDA² CHURCH, ANDREW C¹) was born 08 Aug 1864 in Washington Territory, and died 03 Jul 1931 in Montana¹⁰⁹. He married ROSA STILER 20 Jul 1897 in Glasgow, Montana. She was born Dec 1876 in Minnesota, and died 21 Oct 1928 in Valley, Montana¹¹⁰.

Notes for ROSSWELL BRANSON:

Montana, Its Story and Biography, Vol 3, History of Montana page 594

Roswell L. Branson, the proprietor of the Hotel Nashua, is numbered among Montana's early day cowboys and permanent settlers. He is strictly a man of the West, born at Walla Walla, Washington, August 8, 1864, and he was reared as a farmer lad there, where the family home had been established in 1858. His father, Thomas Branson, was a native of Illinois, and crossed the plains to the Pacific Coast country with his parents. None of the incidents of that early westward journey are now available. (but they are now)

Thomas Branson led a company of volunteers at the Willow Creek fight at the time of the Nez Perce outbreak, and the wound which he received at that time caused his death four years later. During the days of pack freighting into that country he was a packer, freighting goods from the dalles, Oregon, across the country to Walla walla and other inland points. When he finally settled down to a permanent livelihood it was as a farmer, and his home was ten miles south of Walla Walla. He entered land there and prospered as a ranchman, and at the time of his death owned 4,400 acres, numerous cattle and large bands of horses, and his success made him one of the conspicuous ranchmen of that region.

Thomas Branson married Amanda Church, who was born in County Clare, Ireland, a daughter of Andrew Church. She was brought to the United States when a child of twelve years, and the family crossed the plains and settled in the Willamette Valley of Oregon. Mrs. Branson was reared there on a farm, and she survived her husband many years. Her children were as follows; Otis P., of Lewiston, Idaho, Roswell L., whose home is in Nashua Montana; Alfred M., of Kalispell, Montana; Fannie, who became the wife of Almon Jones, and died in Umatilla County, Oregon; Ella, who married John Gratz and died in Arizona; Mazina died as Mrs. Bird at Baker City, Oregon; Alta married a Mr. Musgrove of Walla Walla Valley; Charles E., of glacier Park, Montana. Mrs. Branson married for her second husband Charles Lewis, and her final home was at Lewiston, Idaho.

Roswell L. Branson was a pupil in the district schools near the Branson home in Walla Walla Valley until he entered Huntsville, Washington, college and he pursued a business course at Helena after he came to Montana. Leaving home with his brother, Alfred, they started out on horseback with little knowledge of their destination, knowing only that they were on their way somewhere. At Malhuren, Oregon, they overtook Charley Flowers with his band of horses, and they hired out to Mr. Flowers to help drive the stock through to Bozeman. After reaching Bozeman the Branson brothers hired to Charkes Ancny, of the firm of cruse and Ancny, to handle stock on the company's ranch on Prarie Elk, near Bozeman, spending three years there. They then crossed over to Lewiston, where Alfred Branson entered the service of McNamara, of Roswell, and became connected with the Diamond outfit, belonging to Henry Sieben. The Diamond Company was later consolidated with the Pioneer Cattle Company, owned by Davis, House, Stewart and Conrad Kohrs, and during a period of six years Roswell L. Branson worked under the orders of Mr. Kohrs on their Malta ranch.

While associated with that famous cattle company Mr. Branson came into intimate contact with numerous young men doing duty as cow punchers from every point of the compass. Among the more noted ones may be mentioned Puck Powell, who has since given many years of his life to the office of sheriff of Valley County. Another was Kid curry, who ended his notorious career as a train robber, and S. C. Small, who served as an official of Valley County for many years and finally became identified with the Milk River Valley Bank as its cashier, Johnny Edward, who finally became a power in republican politics in Montana, was another of the men of that day who slept on the ground and fed at the "chuck" wagon with the boys. He was a Texas man and came into Montana about the time the Branson brothers became cowboys in this state.

When Roswell Branson left the employ of Conrad Kohrs he began clerking and tending bar in the Coleman Hotel at Glasgow. Following this business experience he began ranching for himself at Whatley Siding east of Glasgow, in partnership with Sky C. Small, and they ran their stock under the brand "MU" for two years, when Mr. Branson bought his partner's interest and continued ranching until 1908. at that time he disposed of his ranching interests and entered the hotel business in Nashua.

This new venture made him the proprietor of the Nashua Hotel, a building 20 by 32 feet, and a two-story structure, 120 by 32 feet has taken the place of the original building. Mr. branson has taken an active part in the development of Nashua from a mere hamlet to an incorporated town, has also assisted in the work of opening roads through the Fort Peck reservation, and in making the region of Valley county passable for tourists and local travelers. In his political affiliations he supports the democratic party, voting for Mr. Cleveland for his first presidential candidate. Fraternally he is a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Knights of Pythias.

Mr. Branson was married while in Glasgow, Montana, July 20, 1897, to Miss Rosa Stiler, who was born in Minnesota in December 1876. a son, Earl Otis has been born to bless their union, and he is a pupil in the Nashua schools.

Samuel R. Hoon Dies in Dayton

Samuel Ross Hoon of Route 1, Dayton, died suddenly at his home Monday. He was 83, having been born on the family farm near Stateline on Aug. 1, 1873.

Mr. Hoon's father came across the plains and homesteaded in 1851, and the girl he married, Mattie Humphrey, also crossed the plains and met him at The Dalles in 1865. They were married and began farming on the homestead, which they never left. Their three children, Samuel, Mattie and Olive, being born there.

Samuel Hoon received his early education at the academy in Milton. He married Bessie Church June 3, 1901, and farmed the family place until 1936, when he moved to Dayton. He continued farming actively there until his death. His golden wedding anniversary was celebrated by almost the entire family in 1951, although some members had to come a considerable distance to do so. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Trinity Lodge No. 121 of the Odd Fellows, Dayton Grange No. 1064, and the Columbia County Farm Bureau.

He is served by his wife, Bessie at the home; sons Roy and Ray Hoon of Dayton and Dr. Henry Hoon of Yakima; his daughters Mrs. Lester (Pat) Mann of Eureka and Mrs. Robert (Iri) West of Spokane; a sister, Mrs. Mattie Hedrick of Los Angeles; seven grandchildren, and numerous nieces and nephews. The funeral will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 19 at a local funeral home, with interment in the Odd Fellows Cemetery. Ritualistic graveside services will be conducted by Trinity Lodge NO. 121 of the Odd Fellows.
