BIRTH: Demaris book

MG: Unrecorded marriages of Salem Co., NJ- John Demaris to Abigail Shaw May 5, 1806 by Rev. Michael Swing, who with John Murphy, his brother-in-law established the Methodist Church in Bridgeton.

HISTORY: Personal account of descendants: "John Demaris and Abigail Shaw, his wife, were native of New Jersey as given in the biography of Harmon Demaris, his son, born 1820. Tradition has it that the ancestors came from Alsace Lorraine, France (near Switzerland). This information being relayed by the Motier and Gwinn families of near Moscow, Ohio. Which had come from Bexwest, Switzerland, and lived near by Elias Demaris below Moscow, Ohio; and upon the hill where the Gwinn nursery man, Eliase on Ray a near by stream. Tradition claims that Abigail was of or near by Harrisburg, Pa. (Mechanicsburg).

John and Abigail likely had some family on leaving New Jersey as they were befriended at Philadelphia by that wealthy and noble French philanthropist, Stephen Girard, who assisted so many emigrants in the Ohio Valley. He had equipped father John and his family with supplies and a wheel barrow which they pushed over the Allegheny Mts. descending the Ohio River to Chilo, the oldest town in Franklin Twp. where he landed in 1816. We find that lots in that place in 1826 were owned by Eliga Shaw, who married Lida Bowen of New Jersey. Was he perhaps the brother of Abigail? Later the older members of the family were found near Moscow, Ohio, John at one time lived just north of Felicity on the right side of the road leading to Bethel leading to the brick house built by Ray Ross.

Some think he died in a distant trip to Illinois. He spoke only German until he was 16. Rumor had it that after John died in Illinois, Abigail went back for her mother in Penn. and brought her to live with her in Ohio."

DEATH: John was on the tax list for Clermont Co., Ohio in 1834, but not in the 1840 census. Family tradition is that he died while on a trip to Illinois and was never heard from again.

Biography. Jacob Demaris, son of Enoch and Eva was born June 19, 1840 in Shelbyville, Illinois. He lived there until he was six years old when his family moved to Iowa. He lived there until he was 21 when he went back and enlisted in the Civil War at Shelbyville, 1861. He served over 15 months and got back to Ottumwa, Iowa just as his parents with oxen and covered wagon train were ready to go to Oregon.

Jacob Demaris left the train on the Old Oregon Trail and went up to the mines at Virginia City (Alder Gulch) in Montana, arriving in Walla Walla Valley two years later, where his folks had settled.

Jacob Demaris and Lacy Albertine Marquis were married December, 1874. To this union, five children were born; Pearly October 8, 1875, died 1894; Cora Etta, born March 29, 1877; Asa Albert, born December 2, 1878; and Francis Leslie, October 4, 1882; and James Harvey, born July 23, 1887 and died September 5, 1944. Asa and Cora were born near Milton, Leslie at Uncle Jim's in Walla Walla and Harvey in Burns, Oregon. Jacob Demaris and family moved to Burns, Oregon in 1884 where he ran horses on the range. His wife was an invalid. He returned to Basket Mountain, near Milton, in 1889, where his wife died in 1891, leaving Jacob with four boys and Cora, his daughter as housekeeper. In 1900, Jacob and Amos Demaris bought the Enoch Demaris place, Jacob taking the half with the house on it, where he lived until he sold it to Leslie in 1919. Leslie and wife (Lawura Clark) and son, Merle, lived there until the Old Enoch Demaris house burned a few years later. They rebuilt on the same site, a modern farmhouse. Merle and his family still live there, making five generations of Demarises on this place. After Jacob sold the place, he lived with his children until his death, September 9, 1928. He was a charter member of the G.A.R. Stone River Post No. 60, Milton, Oregon
