30. ERNEST EDMUND⁴ WALDEN (LENA M³ STAGGS, SARAH JANE² DAVIS, SAMUEL¹) was born 09 Dec 1881 in Oregon¹³⁸, and died Jan 1964¹³⁹. He married NELLIE ANGELINE PURDY, daughter of SAMUEL PURDY and ELIZABETH HARTMAN. She was born 17 Nov 1883 in Umatilla,OR¹⁴⁰.

Notes for ERNEST EDMUND WALDEN:

Walla Walla Union Bulletin (Walla Walla, Washington) > 1949 > March > 13

Ernest E Walden, who has been among other things, assessor in the eastern portion of Umatilla county many years, comes from a family of early settlers in Oregon and Umatilla County.

First Walden Migrated to Area in 1845.

Over a period of 20 years, much of Umatilla county's east end has been assessed by Ernest E Walden of Milton-Freewater. The veteran deputy assessor is a busy beaver right now compiling the statistics from which next year's taxes will be computed. This is his twenty-first year in this highly important assignment.

His territory embraces the district from Pendleton to the state line but due to the late start and the bad roads created by the recent disturbances, he fears he will not be able to cover the territory without some help.

Family an Old One.

Over approximately the same period of time Walden has been a school director in his community. But even more important -- to history-minded folk -- are the unique associations his parents and grandparents had with early development of Oregon.

The Roving Reporter managed on day recently to prevail on the busy deputy assessor to stand still long enough to review some of the Walden family history. This is Walden's busy season.

Came in '45

Benjamin E Walden, my grandfather, came out to Oregon with the big train of 1845," he said, "They were met in Southern Idaho by Marcus Whitman, with the advice that Indians were menacing. One group of California bound men without families decided they would join in with the Oregon bound wagons, making a total of 90 wagons in the train.

"About where La Grande now is the train was met by a large number of chiefs and their warriors. Whitman started a council that lasted far into the night. Finally the peace pipe was lighted and the train breathed easier. When the train reached the top of the Blues, Whitman left and returned to the mission while the immigrants pushed on to the Willamette Valley."

McLoughlin Incident

At Oregon City, Walden's grandfather helped build a house for Dr.McLoughlin. Hudson's Bay company factor at Fort Vancouver. This building more recently became part of the McLoughlin museum.

Not long after, the Waldens were settled in the Waldo hills, six miles east of Salem. There a home was built and in it was born John Walden, more fully referred to presently. Only a few years ago Ernest Walden returned to the Waldo hills and found the original home -- now 100 years old -- still in use, but as part of a tavern.

The present owners revealed that the title for the land originally passed to Ben Walden from the government in 1849.

John to Weston

By 1871 John Walden set up a family domicile near Weston and there Ernest E Walden was born. In due time, Ernest Walden took a shine to Nellie Purdy, over Athena way. She belonged to the same Purdy clan which at one time operated Bingham Springs. He not only took a shine to Nellie, he married the girl.

Mr and Mrs Walden found some wheat land around Prescott which they liked so well they farmed it for 20 years, and then moved over to the Freewater country, where they have since resided.

Walden has two half-brothers, Orville and Ted, who also live in the Milton-Freewater district.

Hood River News Obituary

Paul Walden Retired Oregon radio broadcaster and radio station owner

Paul E. Walden, who served three terms in the Oregon State House of Representatives in the 1970s, died Friday. He was 85. A memorial service is planned for Wednesday, April 2, at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Hood River, where he was a longtime member. The Rev. Rustin R. Kimsey, retired Episcopal

Bishop of Eastern Oregon, will deliver the eulogy. Mr. Walden, the father of U.S. Rep. Greg Walden of Hood River, spent 48 years in radio broadcasting, working as an engineer and station manager at radio stations in Walla Walla, LaGrande and Pendleton. He worked at KODL radio in The Dalles for 27 years before purchasing KIHHR radio in Hood River in 1967. He served twice as president of the Oregon Association of Broadcasters. Mr. Walden earned his license as a Radiotelephone Operator First Class in 1937, after studying broadcast engineering at the Oregon Institute of Technology in Portland. He acquired his radio amateur (HAM) license in 1934, and remained an active radio amateur until quite recently, communicating with other radio amateurs around the globe, both by voice and by Morse Code. He was in the U.S. Army Signal Corps in 1946 and 1947, stationed at Fort Monmouth, N.J. Mr. Walden, who was born on a wheat ranch near Prescott, Wash., on May 7, 1917, to Ernest Edmund and Nellie Angeline Purdy Walden, grew up in Milton-Freewater and graduated from Mac-High in 1935. He was a descendent of Oregon pioneers; his family came to the Oregon Territory by wagon train in 1845. The diary that his great-grandmother, Sarah J. Walden Cummins, kept of her journey on the Oregon Trail has been published as "The Autobiography and Reminiscences of Sarah J. Cummins." Mr. Walden's survivors include three sons and their wives: Bob and Connie Walden of Phoenix, Ariz.; Bill and Sandy Walden of Gresham; and Greg and Mylene Walden of Hood River. He also is survived by a stepson, two stepdaughters, and their spouses: Mike and Val Tenney of The Dalles; Barb and Mitch Hosford of Hood River and Jo Ann and Lewis Wixon of The Dalles. Other survivors include two grandsons, Mathew Walden of Gresham and Anthony Walden of Hood River, and two sisters, Eleanor Day of Kellog, Idaho, and Ginger Delk of Ridgecrest, Calif. In 1940 in LaGrande, he married Betty McEwen, who died in 1990. His second wife, Ethel Mae Tenney Walden, died in 1999. He served as a lay reader in the Episcopal Church for 50 years, and had been a member of the Diocesan Council for the Episcopal Diocese of Eastern Oregon, serving for two years as council chairman. Mr. Walden, who greatly appreciated hearing - and telling - a good story, also was a community activist. He was named First Citizen of The Dalles in 1956, where he was president of Kiwanis, twice president of The Dalles Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the chamber's board of directors. He chaired The Dalles Dam dedication committee, and served as the master of ceremonies when then-Vice President Richard M. Nixon dedicated the dam in the mid-1950s. He was a former Exalted Ruler of the Hood River Elks Lodge, and also was a member of Hood River Rotary, the Pendleton Masonic Lodge, Al Kader Shrine and Portland Valley of the Scottish Rite. The family suggests memorials to Hospice of the Gorge, c/o Anderson's Tribute Center, 1401 Belmont, Hood River, OR 97031. 1

The Phillips, Weber, Kirk, & Staggs families of the Pacific Northwest - Jim Weber

Grew up on a farm in Weston, Umatilla, OR

Graduated from the University of Oregon in engineering even though he never went into the profession. He met Grandmother Bernice at the University (she completed 2 years), married her, and took up sheep and cattle ranching at Keating, 17 miles outside Baker, Oregon. Bernice had been raised around Baker. Somehow they acquired land from her father, Great Grandad Fred Philips, to begin ranching. Basically Fred split his ranch holdings between his son and daughter (Wayne and Bernice), then he semi-retired to Baker City.

Grandad Staggs was a past President of the Oregon Woolgrowers Association, a participant in many Oregon state functions (I remember going to Portland with them when he had to attend State Welfare Commission meetings), a member of the National Forestry Advisory Board, and after retiring from ranching he became president of the local Chamber of Commerce.

But most of all Grandad Staggs was an avid fisherman. He liked fishing of any type: flyfishing at East Eagle, Salmon Fishing at the Columbia River Bar or Winchester Bay, Steelhead fishing along the Columbia and Snake Rivers, or lake fishing in his boat, the "Chary-Lyn" named after my two sisters: Chary and Linda. Naturally I was the captain from the time I was six years old. Mostly I remember getting out of grade school on a Friday afternoon and having my grandparents waiting patiently, boat in tow, everything (sleeping bags, food, tent, clothes) packed, ready to pick me up and go for a week end fishing trip to a local reservoir. The food that grandmother cooked in a little wood burning "shepherders" stove was among the best food I have ever tasted. Somehow the number of fish that we caught is not my biggest memory-but just being there with them."
